As you grow older the desire for sex may decrease but it doesn't go away. Sex in your 70's, 80's and even 90's is obviously different than your younger years and there may be some obstacles, but it can be fulfilling.

Decrease in Stamina

When having sex you may become tired more easily and may not be able to maintain the momentum needed to have an orgasm. The IntimateRider™ can assist in reducing the fatigue and will help you perform longer. By gently moving your upper body it sets the IntimateRider™ into the natural motion. With this ease of movement you will not be putting excess strain on your body.

Limited Range of Motion

The changes that can take place in your body can sometimes dampen the way you have sex. Decrease in range of motion can make it difficult to get into different positions to have sex. The IntimateRider™ and RiderMate™ can assist in positioning and supporting your body so that you can get into different positions that are not strenuous to your joints.
